

New Garden Township

Board of Supervisors

VOLUNTEER INFORMATION

Since its beginning in 1714 volunteers were and continue to be the heart of New Garden Township. The first were farmers who took the task to “supervise” township roads and collect taxes to maintain them. Three hundred years ago the population was less than 5 percent of what it is today, more than thirteen thousand. As a result, the Board of Supervisors’ responsibilities have expanded to foster economic opportunities, ensure residential safety, protect the quality of life and preserve its rich historical heritage. The Supervisors have authorized citizen boards and commissions to help them. These are listed below volunteer opportunities to fit every interest and expertise.

Please complete the below information and submit to the New Garden Township Administration Office at 299 Starr Road, Landenberg, PA 19350, to start your exciting experience in being an integral part of your community.
